

Accommodating All Learners

"I enjoyed taking this course and learned a lot of new information that I can implement in my classroom. Thanks!"

Type of Course: Facilitated

Length of Access: 4 Weeks

Course Description:

Respecting all learners while modeling effective instructional and learning practices is the foundation on which Professional Learning Board has been built. This course guides participants in weaving components of teaching and learning into a foundation that meets today's twenty-first century demands and tomorrow's challenges to successfully teach and reach all students.

This research-based course is packed with strategies, resources and tools. Participants will gain insight into both, their own learning and teaching preferences as well as the learning styles of students. Closely aligned with national standards and pedagogical goals.

- Theories & Strategies

The Accommodating All Learners course addresses accommodation, modification, and adaptation of curriculum, materials, and instruction to appropriately meet the needs of varied students in achieving graduation standards (i.e., differentiated instruction).

The NEA Academy says:

Participants are introduced to learning styles for both adults and students and reflect on how instructor learning styles impact teaching styles. They examine teaching and learning strategies to accommodate all learners and develop plans to put teaching and learning changes into effect. The course incorporates Paragon Learning Style Inventory (Schindler), Howard Gardner's Multiple Intelligence, Bloom's Taxonomy of Cognitive Domain, and C. Tomlinson's approach to differentiation.

Highlights: This course is highly rated for its alignment with state and national standards, research-based content, and quality supplemental resources. Opportunities are provided for reflection and journaling.
